

This ring was purchased from a cruise recommended jewelry store in Greece. The sapphire proved to be over-valued and misrepresented. It was too dark to be of high value. Ultimately our appraised value was less than half the sale price and they were told it was worth more than double what they paid.